

Abstract Submissions FAQ

PBRN CONFERENCE

What should my submission include?

Oral & Poster Presentations:

- Title
- Abstract (background, setting & participants, methods, results, and conclusion)
- Research Category
- Learning Objectives (minimum of two required)
- Relevance Statement

Workshop:

- Title
- Abstract (rational, audience participation, content to be presented, evaluation method, and prerequisite knowledge)
- Research Category
- Session Description
- Schedule
- Audience
- Learning Objectives (minimum of two required)
- Relevance Statement

What should my title include?

125 characters including spaces. Do NOT use all capitals.

How many characters should my abstract be?

2,500 characters including spaces. The abstract should be no longer than 2,500 characters in a single paragraph with the following subheads: Background, Settings & Participants, Methods, Results, and Conclusions. Do not include title or author(s).

What research categories are accepted?

You can find a list of accepted research categories here. You will select your category from a dropdown list when submitting.

What is a learning objective?

What you want learners to take away and implement after the session in active, measurable terms (e.g. - define, interpret, explain, apply).

How long should the learning objective be?

Learning objectives should be no longer than one sentence.

How many learning objectives do I need to provide?

A minimum of two learning objectives are required for a submission.

What is a relevance statement?

Describing the relevance or "take home message" of the session to a patient, community member, or non-researcher in layman's terms.